

Why Choose Our Support Coordinators

Our Support Coordinators Will Understand You & Your Plan

Having an actively engaged Support Coordinator who can help you understand your plan and how to find the best service providers in your area is invaluable.

Our Support Coordinators help their participants make sense of their plan and the rules around the service planning, including the timelines associated with accessing services.

Our Support Coordinators take the time to understand you, but use that knowledge to connect you to NDIS supports, mainstream, community, & informal supports such as family and friends in an effort to maximise your NDIS funding.

Our Support Coordinators will also help to ensure that you are using all your funding effectively before the plan expires.

Respect

The NDIS aims to support a better life for Australians with significant permanent disabilities along with their families and carers. Empower Me NSW's priority is to make sure that people with a disability continue to get the support they need.

At Empower Me NSW Support Coordinators respect and always work to support our participants independence and choices.

Having them in your life will make it easier for you to lead the life you want.

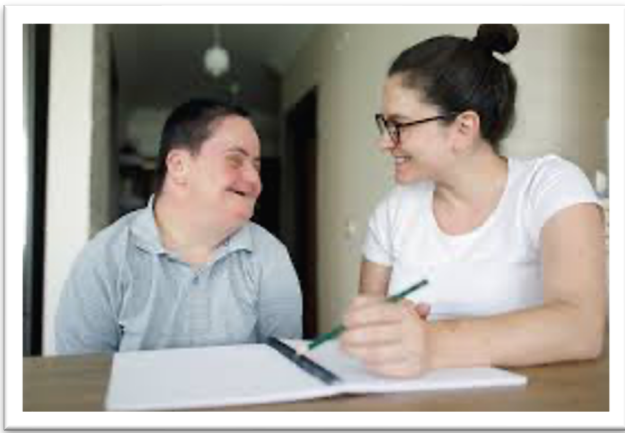

Our Support Coordinators will focus on your goals and how you want to achieve them, contribute creative ideas, and make sure your time together is valuable.

Your Support Coordinator will work to benefit you as much as possible and ensure that you are provided with the best supports & services that are available.

Our Support Coordinators Give You Full Choice & Control

Having choice and control over your life is very important which is why at Empower Me NSW there is huge emphasis on providing our participants with more choice and control under the NDIS.

At the very beginning, Empower Me NSW's Support Coordinators will see what works best with each participant to determine their needs such as finding out how you want to communicate, how often and what information is most important to you.

Empower Me NSW provides our client with the choice of their communication preference. This includes the options for face-to-face, over the phone or via technology.

This might be for a personal preference or for people who live in a rural and remote locations.

Our Support Coordinators Are Community Experts

When working with your Support Coordinator, you should expect to get good quality community knowledge around NDIS providers, mainstream and community groups that benefit your unique goals, plan and personality.

Empower Me NSW Support Coordinators takes community connections seriously to provide the best local knowledge about NDIS services in the area.

Our Support Coordinators can help you connect with supports in your local area, including:

- Education, for example schools, universities, TAFEs and community learning programs
- Health services, for example GPs, nurses, hospitals, vision, and hearing services
- Community health services, for example dietetics, mental health services, counselling services
- Other government services, for example housing, transport, and family violence support services.
